

this present year several new Pageants and Devices have been prepared at the cost of such Loyal Citizens and others as have thereby shewn their Averſation and Detestation against Popery, and all the superſtitious Trumpery of Rome, the manner and form being as followeth.

First, Sir Edmund ~~Barry~~ Godfrey on Horse-back all bespangled with Bloud, having a Jesuit behind him to support him, in the same manner as he was carried to Primerose-hill, after he was basely and cowardly murdered by Hells Incendiaries, having a twisted Napkin about his neck, and his head hanging on one side.

After him the Effigies of a monstrous Animal with his face reverſt, making Observations upon the Horse-tail; or an amphibious Creature made up of Ribaldry, having a Paper pinn'd upon his Sleeve, to be the better known when he comes neer Sam's Coffee-house, inscribed, I am an Observer.

The next a certain Typographer, with his Holiness Cross-Keys at his Circle, and a bundle of Popish Catechisms under his right Arm, making a thousand wry faces at the sight of a Pillory.

After him a discarded Reformado, or scandal to his Pundition, who indeed looked very thin, as having been obliged to feed upon Queries and Scrupulosity for Three Months; and to this hour lives upon the Extraction of Questions and Answers; and therefore the better to be known, he is marked upon the back with large Characters, viz. Tooke/so/pe and thereby noted to be the Laughing Philosophers Fool, or the Popes drudge. These being the Forlorn-hope, about eight Horsemen more, usher on his Holiness. As for the Foot, first six Fryers going two and two, bearing Crosses, Beads, and other Popish Trumpery, being dressed in their proper Habit. After them a like number in Jesuits Habit, with Daggers in their hands, being dressed up in black Gowns, and Three-corner'd Caps, having their Crucifixes hanging by their sides. After them Four Popish Bishops, with Miters and Croziers; Copes and Sleeves according to the Ceremonies of the Church of Rome, the Syndacate of Satan, Satan, which you please. Then several Cardinals in Red Hats, Rows of paper, pretended Bulls, Pardons, and Indulgences. Then a Pillory high erected upon a Sledge, and in the Effigies of Two Outlandish-men, and two others, three of them standing in the Pillory, and one sitting upon a Chair, having a paper pinned upon his Breast, with this Inscription, I am not P. Then Musick, with several Pictures.

In fine, the Pageant of His Holiness fixed upon a Sledge and drawn by Four Horses, as the former, he having as it were for his Charioteer a Jesuit, who carries great bundles of Papers; and behind him for his Tutor or Privy-Counsellor a Devil, the fittest Companion that he can be coupled with, had been at the choosing of his Mate, he having in one hand the pretended Keys to Hell and Purgatory, and in the other a Tripple Crozier, his Robes being Crimson-lin, Laced with Tinsel, and Lined with Ermyns, upon his Head a Tripple Crown; upon the Canopy of his Holinesses Chair are placed several Streamers of White Silk, and on them written in Bloody Characters, Murder, Treason, Manacles, Assassination, Adultery, Subornation, Perjury, &c. upon the seats before him two sit displaying of Banners, on which in large Characters are Inscribed, the Popes Titles, and Babilon the Mother of Harlots; between his legs a large Spannel-dog, with a Fiddle between his fore-feet; and most affirm, before he was Hanged, he was called by the well-known name of Towzer. Before his Holiness was a Bloody-heart carried upon a Dagger; all the way the Devil bobs him, and takes him by the Nose with a pair of Pincers; and this after the most decent order of a Popish Proceession, set forwards from Catteren-wheel-alley in White-Chappel, attended by many thousands of people, and at least Three hundred Links carried before them, to pass through Aldgate, to through Leaden-ball-street, up Cornhill, through the Poultry, and Cheapside, then through Ludgate to Temple-bar, and from thence to Smithfield; where a large fire being prepared by the Gentlemen of the Loyal Inns of Court, his Holiness in all his Pontificalibus, together with the rest of the Effigies, ~~1810~~ Edmund Dwyer excepted, will be Sacrificed up to Moloch, in the view of a number of persons sons of Honour, who will be spectators of his downfall. Nor will there be wanting Fire-works, according as has formerly been used, both upon Land, and in the Air, where several new Inventions will be experimented; insomuch, that the design of this day exceeds whatever hath been of the like nature, the which, past doubt, may occasion some simple Be-gots to laugh on the wrong side of their Mouths till their heart aches. Nor is it less imagined, but the pews will quickly fly to Rome; though many conjecture, that his Holiness is not ignorant of the Project, and that he will give order to his Lubbers, to Curse the promoters of it with Bell, Book, and Candle, as he is wont to curse damned Souls, who make their escapes from Purgatory without paying their Fees. And thus much shall suffice for this time, only let me admonish his Holiness to keep on the other side the Herring-spoil, lest if he fall into the hands of those that burn him in Effigies, they serve him the same piece, and turn it into a real Tragedy.

For English-men that love their King, they will Gross Rome and Rome, and mangre all her ill.

are placed several streamers of White Silk written in Black Letters, which Assassination, which is a large Characters are inscribed, the Popes Titles, and Babylon the Mother of Harlots; between his legs a large spanneldog, with a Fiddle between his fore-feet; and most affinibefore he was Hanged he was called by the well-known name of Tawney. Before his Holiness was a bloody-heart carried upon a Dagger; all the way the Devil bids him, and takes him by the Nose with a pair of Pincers; and this acter the most decent order of a Popish Procession, set forwards from Cantew-mad-ally in White-Chappel, attended by many thousands of people, and at least Three hundred I like carried before them to pass through White-Chappel, through Leaden-hall-green, up Cornhill, through the Porters, and Cheapside, then through Ludgate to Temple-bar, and from thence to White-hall; where a large fire being prepared by the Gentlemen of the Loyal Lane of Court, his Ho-ness in all his Pontificalibus, together with the rest of the Nobles, will be sacrificed up to blazes, in the view of a number of persons